

The Opening of a Neighborhood

In early July, construction will begin on a new street intersection with US Hwy 51 on the north side of our community. The new street will be named “Brailsford Junction Way” in recognition of the City of Edgerton’s pseudonym in Sterling North’s famous book Rascal. The initial project will include a new intersection with the highway and 560 feet of street running east from the highway between Thronson Drive and Lake Drive.

Access to the highway is the critical component supporting the expansion of the Northeast Planned Neighborhood – a 200 acre planned neighborhood located on the northeast side of Edgerton. For several years the City has been preparing planning documents and working with experts from the Department of Transportation to obtain permits to allow the construction of this intersection. The DOT tightly controls access for this section of US Hwy 51. The years of study and perseverance finally resulted in the approvals necessary to construct this critical piece of infrastructure.

Brailsford Junction Way will serve as the entrance to the City’s largest area for new commercial development and to the future neighborhoods north and east of Dean Street. Without highway access, the 15 acres of available commercial development on US Hwy 51 south of Lake Drive would most likely remain undeveloped due to lack of access. For decades, the North Main Street corridor has been the most highly sought after corridor for new commercial development. The development of the Piggly Wiggly 20 years ago, utilized the last available large parcel for commercial development that had access to transportation, sewer and water services. Brailsford Junction Way will change that circumstance making land available for commercial expansion.

The street improvements to US Hwy 51 will include passing lanes and acceleration lanes similar to Interstate Blvd which serves the Edgerton Business Park. Construction is scheduled to start after July 4., 2016. The highway will remain open but please be cautious of the orange barrels and construction workers.

Animated Lights in Central Park

The first animated light display in Central Park was a huge hit last winter. While a donation by Ted and Doris Brown started the display of animated lights, we are trying to add to the collection each year. If you, your family, your business, or your civic group would like to purchase a lighted figure, go to the City's website www.cityofedgerton.com to see the many fun figures from which you can select. Prices shown on the website will start increasing in the fall so order soon to get the most lights for your investment. Contact City Hall at 884 3341 for more information.

Happy Fourth of July
