Arboretum

Noun: ar-bo-re-tum

Definition of Arboretum: a place where trees, shrubs, and herbaceous plants are cultivated for scientific and educational purposes

The Edgerton Tree Board has initiated a multi-year project that will result in the establishment of a "linear arboretum" in Racetrack Park. The project will entail planting a line of various tree types around the outfield fences of the baseball field complex. The trees will be grouped to allow comparisons. For example, tree groupings might include trees for wet soils, woodland trees of Wisconsin, evergreens, and small trees suitable for beneath power lines. By organizing the trees in this way, we have the best chance of providing useful information to citizens about tree diversity, thus encouraging greater diversification of our urban forest.

The goals of the linear arboretum are several:

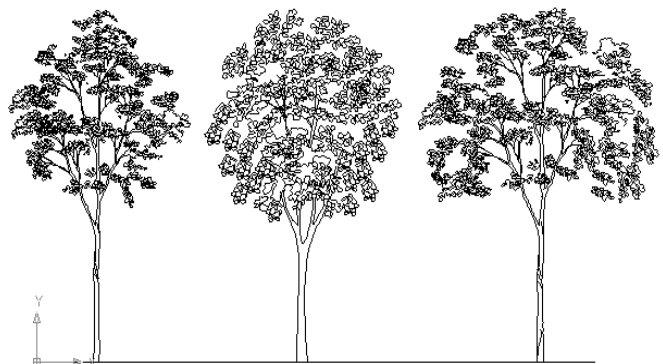

- to demonstrate to the public that there are many interesting tree types that thrive in Wisconsin;
- to allow residents to compare and contrast the different tree types by having them in one area;
- to bring attention to the importance of trees to the environment and to our community; and
- to show how different trees can have different functional purposes (screens, shade, windbreak, etc.).

Memorial

Noun: mə'môrēəl

Definition of Memorial: something, especially a structure, established to remind people of a person or event.

The linear arboretum will provide a place for residents to establish a tree to memorialize or honor anything of importance. A tree could honor someone, something, or an event: a tree could commemorate a wedding anniversary, the birth of a child, an important event in history, a pet. Memorial trees will comprise the part of the linear arboretum nearest the entrance to Racetrack Park so as to be convenient for visitors.

Winter snow parking regulations will go into effect on November 1, 2018. Parking is not allowed on any street or highway after a snowfall until snow is plowed back to the curb. No Utility Rate Increase Again in 2019

Based on a review of the five-year financial forecast, the Utility Commission voted to not increase water or sewer rates in 2019

The Compost Pile Will be Relocated

Due to some very un-neighborly odors, the compost pile will be relocated next spring to Fassett Cemetery, near the brush pile. If you have never been to the cemetery, take South Main St toward Indianford, turn left at the main cemetery entrance (Robinson Drive), and then go left on Summit Drive in the cemetery. Summit Drive will take you to the back of the cemetery, where you will find the brush pile and the compost pile.

Lights of Central Park

SAVE THE DATE: NOVEMBER 24

Did you enjoy the animated figures twinkling throughout Central Park last year? If so, you can help make them and the tree lighting celebration even better for this year. There are plenty of spaces available for more fun animated figures. Maybe your business, organization, graduating class, or family would like to donate a figure to add to the collection. You can visit the City's website or come to city hall for more information.

If you are into parades, wrap your vehicle in lights and show it off in the fourth annual Holiday Parade. Last year, hundreds of people came to downtown Edgerton to watch the light parade, enjoy free hot cocoa and popcorn, and witness the tree-lighting ceremony. We will again be drawing the name of a young Edgertonian to flip the giant switch that lights the tree. Sign up sheets will be available in a few weeks at the Edgerton library
